

Sustainable and Resilient Communities

To learn more about how the Long Island Sound Partnership is supporting community resilience, contact an Extension Professional:

1. Suffolk County
Elizabeth Hornstein, 631.824.4575
elizabeth.hornstein@cornell.edu

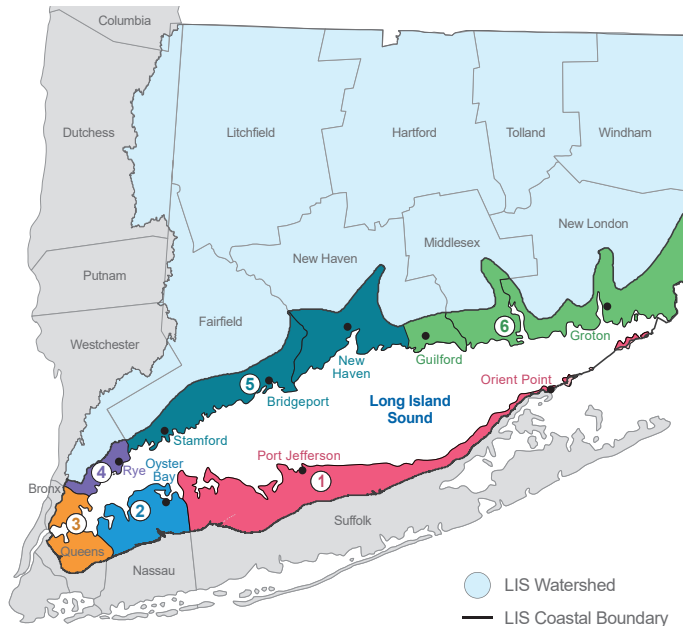

2. Nassau County
Sarah Schaefer-Brown
516.832.2591 ext.116
sarahschaefer-brown@cornell.edu

3. NYC - Bronx & Queens
Ben Goldberg, 631.824.1053
bgoldberg@cornell.edu

4. Westchester County
Sara Powell, 914.369.1591
slp285@cornell.edu

5. Western CT (Branford & West)
Deb Visco Abibou, 203.407.3166
deb.abibou@uconn.edu

6. Eastern CT (Guilford & East)
Sarah Schechter, 860.405.9215
sarah.schechter@uconn.edu

Get to know the Sustainable and Resilient Communities Program

Who We Are:

Extension Professionals with CT Sea Grant and NY Sea Grant who support the Sustainable and Resilient Communities program of the Long Island Sound Partnership.

What We Do:

Our team provides resources, training, and connections to help communities implement resilience projects and plan for and respond to environmental challenges.

Learn More:

Scan the QR code below to access our Long Island Sound Resilience Resource Hub at www.lisresilience.org for tailored tools, funding guidance, regional case studies, and more.

About the Long Island Sound Partnership

Led by the Environmental Protection Agency and the States of New York and Connecticut, the Long Island Sound Partnership is a cooperative effort involving researchers, regulators, user groups, and other concerned organizations and individuals working together to protect and improve the health of the Sound.

Visit lispartnership.org to learn more.

SCAN ME! >>>

